AsiaHaptics is a new type of international conference for the haptics fields, featuring interactive presentations with demos. AsiaHaptics welcomes all attendees related to or interested in haptic hardware, human haptic perception, and other haptic applications, from not only Asia but also all over the world. The second conference, AsiaHaptics 2016, will take place during Nov.29-Dec.1, 2016 at Mitsui Garden Hotel Kashiwanoha, Japan.

Kashiwanoha is a recently developed "Smart City" in Tokyo Metropolitan Area, where the new campus of the University of Tokyo is situated, conveniently connected to the center of Tokyo by Tsukuba-Express. AsiaHaptics 2016 will be sponsored by Virtual Reality Society of Japan and supported by other Asian academic societies.
